Hail hits the Highlands

A devastating storm hit the Highlands of Haliburton on Monday night around 5 p.m. bringing with it rain, high winds and hail stones about half the size of golf balls.

In the wake of this storm several trees were blown down and in other cases limbs from the trees were ripped off and sent flying onto people's lawns.

When the storm was well on its way the Hydro went off, causing a power interruption that lasted for four hours. Ontario Hydro employees were soon on the job, but it took them until 9 p.m. before the lights came on again.

During the storm a tree fell over the cabin behind the Driftwood Restaurant smashing in the roof. Another tree fell between Bernsteins General Store and Ronnie Grant's home.

The heat waves we have been having lately have brought with them several severe storms which in our opinion is quite unusual for our part of the country.

Can't cope, says Civic Hospital if lock-out of nurses continues

Peterborough - Peterborough Civic Hospital says it cannot continue providing adequate psychiatric care at the community level if a lockout of public health nurses at the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge health unit continues.

Dr. Bryan Pell, director of the hospital's psychiatry department, said yesterday in an open letter to Health Minister Frank Miller that the Ontario ministry has asked psychiatric departments to become increasingly involved in community psychiatry. But the monthold lockout of public health nurses is impeding that program.

About 1,100 public health nurses will begin a five day strike on June 14 to protest lockouts at the Kawartha Unit and the Peterborough city county health unit.

Mary Rodder, strike coordinator for the Ontario Nurses Association, said the three week Peterborough lockout ended in March when a settlement was reached.

Dr. Pell said the Kawartha nurses participate in 10 clinics a month in Cobourg, Lindsay, Brighton and Haliburton.

"We would point out that especially in rural areas, the public health nurses are the only resource available to many people," he said adding that nurses reduce the length of time patients spend in hospital by providing follow-up treatment at home.

OPP kept extremely busy investigating accidents

On Tuesday, June 8, at 1:35 a.m. on County Road 10 (Elephant Lake Road) Wayne C. Blackburn, age 28, of R.R. 1, Eldorado, was the driver of a 1972 pick up truck travelling northbound which entered the east ditch striking a bank. The driver sustained cuts in the accident and was treated at the Red Cross Hospital in Haliburton. Investigating Officer was Ontario Provincial Police Constable Mike Legge of the Minden Detachment, who estimated damage at $600 to the pick up truck.

As a result of an investigation by Constable Mike Maher of the Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police a 1957 Chevrolet was recovered on the 25th Concession Road in the Township of Stanhope on Thursday, June 10. Donald Francis Mallette, age 17, of 73 Wilkinson Avenue in Oshawa has been charged with possession of stolen property. The vehicle had been stolen from Oshawa.

Terrence Joseph Arseneault, age 29, of Peterborough has been charged with making an improper turn as the westbound vehicle he was driving began to make a left turn into a driveway off Highway 121 near Haliburton when it was involved in a collision as a westbound dump truck driven by Hugh Alton, Jr., age 26, of Minden attempted to pass the Arseneault car. Ontario Provincial Police Constable Gary Chapman of the Minden Detachment investigated and estimated damage at $1,000, to the 1976 car driven by Arseneault and $150 to the 1962 dump truck driven by Alton. The accident occurred at 4:55 p.m. on Thursday, June 10.

Damage of $5,000. occurred to the Boice Motor Sales Building situated on Highway 121, just west of the Village of Haliburton at 9:20 a.m. on Friday, June 11, when a 1973 station wagon driven by 23 year old Russell K. Hodgson of Pickering entered the lot and struck the north wall of the building, after the accelerator stuck.

Ontario Provincial Police Constable Weldon Popp of the Minden Detachment was the investigating officer, and stated that there was no apparent damage to the vehicle driven by Hodgson.

Charged with careless driving is 18 year old Louis Semaan of Scarborough after the vehicle he was driving attempted to pass another vehicle on County Road 2 in Minden Township, and he lost control and the 1969 car entered the south ditch. The accident occurred at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 12, with O.P.P. Constable Barnes of the Minden Detachment estimating damage at $1,000.

Steven R. Major, age 17, of Tory Hill was travelling northbound on Highway 648 near Wilberforce in his 1968 car when he turned out to pass a car driven by 17 year old Richard A. Riel, also of Tory Hill, who applied his brakes as the Major vehicle passed and ended up losing control and striking a pick up truck travelling southbound being driven by Barry G. Stoughton, age 19, of Wilberforce which in turn came to rest in Wilberforce Lake. The accident, which occurred near a curve, was reported at 9:15 p.m. on Saturday, June 12. The 1975 pick up truck driven by Stoughton was damaged to an extent of $2,000. and the 1969 car which Riel was driving received $1500 damage while there was no damage being done to the Major automobile. Constable Barry Connolly of the Minden OPP Detachment investigated, and a charge of impaired driving has been laid against Steven R. Major.

On Saturday, June 12, at 10:25 p.m. Wayne F. Parnell, age 20, of Haliburton had his 1971 car, skid as he was driving northbound on County Road 3 in Dysart Township, travelling side-ways and rolling over in the ditch causing an estimated $2,000. Wayne F. Parnell has been charged with careless driving by the investigating officer, Ontario Provincial Police Constable Boyd Jarvis of the Minden Detachment.

An eastbound vehicle on County Road 13 (Hawk Lake Road) struck a sign post at 11:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 12, and Mario Esteves, age 20, of 15 Larose Avenue in Toronto faces a charge of failing to report a collision forthwith as a result. Esteves told police that he lost control of his car on the south shoulder when meeting another vehicle with high beam lights on. Investigating officer Constable Al Bibby of the Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police estimated damage to the 1976 model car at $700.

OPP to patrol boat races

The Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police will be having two officers with the OPP patrol boat in attendance at the Northern Ontario Championships of the Ontario Power Boat Association to be held on Head Lake in Haliburton on Saturday, June 19. The O.P.P. request that any persons who intend to travel on the lake during the afternoon use extreme caution as boat races will be in progress, making access to all parts of the lake impossible. These boats are very high powered crafts, and the police say that there may be some boating restrictions for the three hours of racing to ensure the safety of everyone concerned.

MEN OF THE COOPERAGE DRY SIDE

I came up to the cooperage to find something to do
And they put me picking up heading in the barrel crew of big Lew

Jack Crabb and Harry Hobden
Joe Iles and Roy Cameron too
They don't like our moldie heading for it makes the air turn blue

Gordon Watt is our foreman
And you never see him blue
And he gives the gang a helping hand if they are late at getting through

Carl Sisson and big Lew Roberts
Ed Miller and Mac Trudeau
Along with Roy Kellett
they turn for the dry side crew

And here's to Barney Brannigan
Gerald Watt and Frank Madill
They are all returned soldiers and work at the cooperage mill.

We have Jim and Bill the Ward twins
Trappers and fishermen too
They have worked along time at the cooperage and there is nothing they can't do

Stan Roberts is like maidens in a melancholy dream
Sometimes he is on the dry side and sometimes on the green.

Russell Pritchard and Lloyd Whittaker along with Duke Teatro
They're some our fastest matchers and they can put on quite a show.

Wally Woods was a lumber jack and a river driver to
And he works with Monty Pearsell now
In Mac Trudeau's glueing crew

Roy Watt is an old hand
he joints and picks up too
And he works along with Frankie Sims
in the barrel crew of big Lew.

And here's to Chester Kellett
our cleanup man today
But he used to be a wild one
That is what the boys all say.

Hector Bain and Russell Gibson
Max Sisson and Murray Watt too
There a lively bunch of fellows from Ed Millers old keg crew.

And here's to Elmer Pearsell and old mill write is he
And he is now the head mechanic at the cooperage company.

Frederick Greer is our manager and he treats the boys four square
But when they talk about the union
It gets in pappy's hair.

There is Jim and Buddy Anderson
Karl and Corrie Sims
And long with Roy Nichols
There our youngest men

Rowett and Morris the James boys and Carmen Peters too
And then through in Ken Teasdale and you have a real good natured crew.

When the ladies come to see us the green side they walk through
And they always stop to have a chat with the boys of the dryside crew.

Wilbert Trumble was a nice young man,
good at work or play
But he took muscular dystrophy and quickly passed away.

Raymond Hewitt runs the warehouse and Lew Pritchard drove a team,
And Abe Fox could bark like a puppy dog,
The best I have ever seen.

George Jones and Gene Formica truck the heading into town
And Alf Sisson joints in the keg crew or else he is falling down.

This song is for the tryside
but we will have to admit its true
Brant Sisson and his green side gang, are a tough and sturd crew.

1976 Deer Season announced

Ontario's 1976 deer seasons were announced today by Natural Resources Minister Leo Bernier.

Following the general format of last year, most deer hunting zone boundaries adhere to boundaries of wildlife management units in northern Ontario while in the south they generally follow county and township boundaries.

Most seasons open at about the same time as in 1975. There will be no hunting season in areas of Northern Ontario where deer occur infrequently.

In northwestern and north central Ontario the bowonly season extends from September 15 to 30 for residents and non-residents.

In the area west of Fort Frances, the gun season runs from October 30 to December 15 for residents and October 30 to November 15 for non-residents.

In the Dryden-Lac Seul area, the residents-only season runs from October 30 to December 15. "The absence of non-resident hunting will help to moderate the deer harvest in an area experiencing a population decline," Mr. Bernier said.

The residents-only gun season in the area from the eastern boundary of Quetico Park to Wawa is October 4 to December 15, coinciding with the resident moose season.

Resident deer hunting in the Kenora Atikokan area extends from October 4, to December 15, while the non-resident season here is October 11 to November 15.

Primitive weapons hunting in the Aulneau Peninsula opens on the same date for all hunters - October 4.

On Manitoulin Island, the bows-only season for residents and non-residents opens on October 9, four days earlier than in 1975, and extends until October 31. The gun season is longer in the western portion of the island because the deer population there is at a high level.

The area north of the French and Mattawa Rivers will be open from November 1 to 6 to residents only. A u-shaped area north of Sault Ste. Marie is open to residents and non-residents from November 1 to 13, as is the Parry Sound area.

In southern Ontario, there are several changes from last year's seasons. Both residents and non-residents may hunt with shotguns and primitive weapons in the counties southeast of Ottawa from November 1 to 4.

In Grey County and the southern part of Bruce County, there are no gun seasons. The season in the Muskoka area has been increased from three to six days.

"Hang Them" say 94%

"Hang them!" says 93-94 per cent of the returns MP William C. Scott has received in response to a questionnaire on capital punishment in Canada.

Suspended for a trial period during which murders have skyrocketed as people became aware that even life sentences meant only a few years in jail at the most, capital punishment is the next big issue to be decided by parliamentarians.

Mr. Scott's office indicates that the percentage of people who want "the rope" restored as a deterrent is about 20 percent greater than that received in a response to an earlier appeal for direction by the federal member for Victoria-Haliburton.

The member is to participate in the debate on capital punishment next week.

The regional municipalities of Hamilton-Wentworth, Halton, Peel and York, closed in 1975, are open this year to resident bow-hunters from October 25 to November 30. "The deer population has increased steadily in these areas in recent years."

"Ontario archers will welcome these additional hunting opportunities," Mr. Bernier said.

Prince Edward County is closed to deer hunting.

Other seasons in southern Ontario are essentially the same as those in 1975, although there are some minor changes in zone boundaries.

Canada Manpower

During the month of May 1976, the Peterborough Canada Manpower Centre placed 511 persons in regular full-time employment including 511 persons in regular full-time employment including 9 who were sent to jobs in other parts of Ontario. This placement figure exceeded last month's figure of 433, reports Public Relations Officer, John Mahoney.

In addition, 126 people were placed in temporary or casual jobs, he said.

Under the Canada Manpower Mobility Program 7 people were assisted in their move to areas for employment where their skills were in demand. Seven other people were authorized for exploratory assistance for job interviews in other areas.

The Canada Manpower Centre, which services Peterborough and Haliburton Counties, plus the Townships of Emily, Somerville and Verulam in Victoria County as well as Percy and Seymour Townships in Northumberland County, as well as the Town of Campbellford, processed 2,339 new and revived applications for employment during the month. A total of 6,919 persons were registered at the Canada Manpower Centre as being unemployed and seeking work at the end of the month. In addition to this, he continued, 1,087 students registered at the Canada Manpower Centre for students are now available for full-time summer employment.

There are 290 persons presently attending retraining courses at Sir Sandford Fleming College. As of 26 July 1976, the Machine Shop Course will be offered on a continuous intake basis rather than start dates every three months. This will enable people to begin this course as other students graduate. Interested people should contact their Manpower Counsellor for more information.

A one hour information session on the Canada Manpower Retraining Program is available by appointment every Thursday morning at 10:00 a.m.

Human Rights Commission

The Ontario Human Rights Commission announced today receipt of two Board of Inquiry Reports involving the retirement of fire fighters at age 60.

Thomas L. Hadley was forced to retire at age 60 from his job as Shift Captain with the City of Mississauga Fire Department which refused his request to continue working until 65. He lodged a complaint with the Commission alleging age discrimination in contravention of the Code, which prohibits job discrimination on the basis of age for persons between 40 and 65. When his complaint could not be conciliated by the Commission's officers, the Minister of Labour, the Hon. Bette Stephenson, M.D., appointed Professor Sydney N. Lederman, Osgoode Hall Law School, York University, a Board of Inquiry to hold a hearing into the matter, in accordance with the Human Rights Code.

Professor Lederman's Report finds that the City of Mississauga contravened the Code and makes an order for remedies. Taking into account that Mr. Hadley has not been able to find another job, Professor Lederman orders that the City pay him his salary for the period commencing July 1, 1975 and to the present, with deductions to cover pension benefits which would have been made. The Board Chairman also orders the City to reinstate Mr. Hadley as Shift Captain, subject to the condition that he still possesses the requisite physical and mental ability to perform his duties.

The Report examines the issue from a number of aspects and makes some jurisdictional findings in the process. Professor Lederman notes that "most people philosophically agree that discrimination based on race, colour or sex is a soul-destroying act which cries out for relief. Unfortunately discrimination against the elderly does not generally evoke such emotion."

The Report notes that, in the course of the hearing, the City never contested the fact that the sole reason for termination of Mr. Hadley was that he had reached the age of 60. This is prohibited by the Human Rights Code. The City never mentioned his competence to perform his job nor that there were any effects of aging which made him unqualified by definition, given his age. Professor Lederman notes that each such case should be determined on an individual analysis, not on the basis of any general concept, since one of the intentions of the Code is "to promote employment of older persons based on their ability rather than age."

The City offered no evidence of gerontological research to demonstrate that age is a bona fide qualification and requirement of the position of Shift Captain. The Report notes that the City did permit certain individuals to continue in their jobs with the Fire Department beyond 60.

The Board Chairman could see no reason why the City "could not establish special job-related examinations which, on a regular basis, test the abilities of each fire fighter coming within a particular age bracket."

Taking up the allegation that the operation of the OMERS* pension plan constituted an obstacle, he finds that the OMERS plan includes provisions both for postponed retirement and early retirement at the option of the employee, and does not impose a rigid, mandatory retirement date. In any case, he distinguishes between retirement date, when employment ceases, and pensionable date, when a pension is available. Professor Lederman says that if a pension plan did impose a mandatory retirement date under 65, "it is most doubtful that (such) a pension plan would override the prohibition set out in the Code."

The Report deals with the City's 1974 by-law making retirement at 60 mandatory for fire fighters, and the City Council resolution of 1975 that it maintain such a policy. Both the by-law and the resolution, the Report says, "fly in the face of the Code and cannot be operative. Although compliance with Code may cause the City some greater expense and some logistical problems with its staff, that is not sufficient to justify conduct or practice which is in contravention of the Code."

An issue in the case was that the collective agreement provided for retirement at 60. The Report accords precedence to the Code over collective agreements. Professor Lederman says the Code "was directed to the protection of the public and towards the fulfillment of an object of policy (and) to eradicate some pernicious social practices. To allow parties to contract out or these provisions, particularly where one of the parties holds a domineering position, would swallow up any remedial effect that such a statute was meant to have."

In reply to the City's argument that the Board of Inquiry should be held in abeyance until Mr. Hadley had presented a grievance through the union, the Report states that "little would be accomplished...as there is grave doubt as to whether the grievance is at all arbitrable." Professor Lederman further notes that "although the relationship between the customary labour-management framework and the Code is still unsettled, (I) feel that where proceedings have been initiated simultaneously in both forums, generally, the arbitrator should defer to the proceedings under the Code. The Code proclaims as a matter of public policy the rights of individuals to secure and maintain employment free of invidious discriminatory consideration. These are matters of public importance and should not be submerged in the labour arbitration process in which the arbitrator's function is to monitor a private agreement. Although the Legislature surely was aware of the widespread practice of arbitrating grievances in industry, it ignored the arbitration process (in promulgating the Code) implying that it intended a Board of Inquiry to determine issues under this statute."

Mr. J.C. Cosgrove was Chief of the Fire Prevention Bureau of the North Bay Fire Department. He too was compulsorily retired at 60 and his request to work until 65 was refused. His complaint of age discrimination, lodged under the Code, could not be conciliated and the Minister of Labour appointed Professor Robert S. Mackay, Faculty of Law, University of Western Ontario, a Board of Inquiry to hold a hearing into the matter.

Professor Mackay ruled that a contravention of section 4(1)(b) of the Code cannot occur if section 4(6) applies. The latter provides for an exception "where age is a bona fide occupational qualification and requirement for the position or employment." Stressing the word "bona fide", Professor Mackay defined it as meaning that "it is essential that a limitation be enacted or imposed honestly or with sincere intentions (and) it must in addition be supported in fact and reason."

He concludes that the mandatory retirement age of 60 imposed by a North Bay by-law, reflecting a collective agreement, satisfies his definition. "It is a condition honestly imposed and, on the basis of the evidence of (North Bay's) witnesses, which I accept, it is a condition which reasonably and properly can be imposed in the special context of fire fighters."

The witnesses whom Professor Mackay heard were the vice-president of the Ontario Professional Fire Fighters Association, fire chiefs of North Bay and Sudbury and the Chief Fire Prevention Officer of Sudbury. They testified, the Report notes, that "although there was no concrete or explicit medical findings available as proof it was their collective opinion...that firemen deteriorate...as they approach or pass the age of sixty. They conceded that (this) is a general rule and that particular individuals might well be able to perform their duties past 60."

Professor Mackay did not dispute that Mr. Cosgrove was retired solely because of his age. He notes that Mr. Cosgrove found a job as a travelling representative with a chemical company and finds it more arduous than his former job and carrying a salary which is $4,000. lower. Mr. Cosgrove refrained from claiming his pension "lest that commit him to an acceptance of retirement."

The Report declines to deal with the issue of whether the collective agreement involved constitutes "a valid contracting out by the parties" from the Code's provisions.

Reinstate the death penalty

I call again upon the government to reinstate the death penalty for premeditated murders. I do so in the full knowledge that it is the will of the great majority of Canadians that we take drastic and serious measures to protect them from those people in our society who would take the life of another.

Those were the prefacing remarks of MP William Scott, speaking as the representative of Victoria-Haliburton constituents in the House of Commons debate in progress on the Criminal Code, measures respecting punishment for murder and other serious offences. We agree with the stand that Mr. Scott is taking on this issue.

Mr. Scott went on to say that and we quote "I ask for the reinstatement of the death penalty for capital murder not because I have a low regard for life, but rather because I have such a high regard for life."

Radio Club very active

Two way radio is the latest fad all over the country and it's especially popular in Haliburton where the newly formed Haliburton Area Radio Club is very active holding coffee breaks, car wash and other projects to raise money. The club has been using their finances carefully and in particular they have been helping people out, who are in need.

If you're 16 years of age or over, you qualify to own a CB license. What's a CB? It's a citizens band, mobile, two-way radio and it's one of the hottest items on sale in North America.

According to Martha Guran in the Toronto Star many of the CB users find the two-way radio an integral part of their daily lives.

Somewhat similar to a walkie talkie, it was primarily used by truckers, businessmen and policemen. Now it is not uncommon for an average car owner to have a CB.

The Junior Walkie Talkie Division of the Haliburton Area Radio Club is also quite active with a large membership and just recently held a very successful Car Wash.

Ten Commandments of Human Relations

1. Speak to people. There is nothing as nice as a cheerful word of greeting.
2. Smile at people. It takes 72 muscles to frown, only four to smile.
3. Call people by name. The sweetest music to anyone's ears is the sound of his own name.
4. Be friendly and helpful. If you would have friends, be friendly.
5. Be cordial. Speak and act as if everything you do is a genuine pleasure.
6. Be genuinely interested in people. You can like almost anybody if you try.
7. Be generous with praise - cautious with criticism.
8. Be considerate with the feelings of others.
9. Be alert to give service. What counts most in life is what we do for others.
10. Add to this a good sense of humor, a big dose of patience, and a dash of humility and you will be rewarded.

Re: The Lock Out of Public Health Nurses
Northumberland, Haliburton & Victoria Counties

Dear Mr. Miller:

We are writing to you about the current critical situation that exists in Northumberland, Victoria and Haliburton Counties because of the lock out of the Public Health Nurses by the Board of Health. In your recent speeches you have stressed the importance of community psychiatric services and have always insisted that these must be maintained. Following your directions, this unit has moved more and more into Community Psychiatry. We are now doing ongoing travelling clinics to cover the widespread areas we are responsible for. To that end, we are doing weekly clinics in Cobourg, two clinics per month in Lindsay, two clinic per month in Brighton, and two clinics per month in Haliburton. In order to offer this service to these three counties we rely heavily on Public Health Nurses. These nurses do much of the problem identification in these areas; in addition, they do a good deal of follow-up and supportive therapy. We hold regular conferences with the nurses at every clinic during the course of which many problems are discussed with them so that these nurses learn to deal with many situations and problems that do not then need to be referred to us for treatment. You have told us that we have a responsibility to provide these services to communities yet now, by locking out the Public Health Nurses, the Haliburton, Kawartha, and Pine Ridge District Board of Health is effectively preventing us from meeting this responsibility.

Mr. Moore, Chairman of the Board, states that Public Health Nurses do not perform an essential service. Is community psychiatric care not an essential service? We would point out that especially in rural areas the Public Health Nurses are the only resource available to many people. Over the past few months these nurses have -

- (a) discovered and referred a case of child abuse
- (b) referred several suicidal adolescents and helped these young people accept psychiatric care.
- (c) calmed a psychotic child and arranged to get him to the hospital for treatment.
- (d) treated a very depressed woman and gradually helped her accept a referral to a psychiatrist.
- (e) followed-up a lady discharged from hospital so that this woman's stay in hospital was drastically reduced.

and these are only a few examples. In 1975, there were in the region covered by this Public Health Nursing service -

- over 13,000 home visits
- 2,400 people attended pre-natal classes
- 13,900 students seen in schools
- 2,500 pre-school children screened for possible health problems
- 5,900 children were immunized
- 171,000 miles travelled

Surely, these services must be categorized as essential.

We would further point out that Public Health Nurses do many preventative services such as child health clinics, supportive home visits, teaching parenting, co-ordinating referrals, and acting as a valuable liaison with doctors, schools and other community agencies. We would remind people that these nurses carry a major responsibility for community health care; and when they are working out in the community they are on their own to handle whatever comes up.

There have been complaints about the cost of Public Health Nurses. Yet, a Public Health Nurse with a degree makes only slightly more than $7 per hour. Compare this to $55.00 per day for training schools (where the average stay is 180 days,) $65.00 per day for residential treatment and $100.00 per day for hospital care. Yet, without the preventative care given by the Public Health Nurses, some of these people would probably require training schools, residential treatment, or hospitalization.

We would re-emphasize that the Public Health Nurses were locked out. This is not a strike. The nurses have always stated that they want to go back to work and are willing to have their case go to arbitration.

We agree that community psychiatric care is essential. However, we will not be able to continue to provide any kind of effective care to our communities if the Public Health Nurses are not allowed to return to work immediately.

Dear Sirs:

Myself and other people who are in the West end of town are fed up with the smell that comes from the truck that empties it's contaminated waste into the sewer line at this end of town.

This is a horrible odour and something should be done about this before the tourists start coming to town.

Health authorities are particular about septic systems and restaurants in the area. Why are they not doing anything about this. Surely it must have been brought to their attention.

There are houses at this end of town and I am quite sure, that the residents are not in love with this odour.

This letter is not a letter of complaint against Mr. Boughner, as his orders are to dump it there, however, it is a complaint to the town council and health authorities and I feel they should look into this matter right away and not prolong it, after all it does not help the environment.

Lets keep HALIBURTON beautiful, even the air.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Mary Driscoll
Haliburton, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

In the May 26, 1976 edition you printed an excerpt from a letter printed in another publication. It concerned the deer hunting conditions in the county, and I would like to make the following comments:

How anyone could find a cause and effect relationship between the number of deer and the number of beaver in the forest is beyond me. It's like saying that the sparrows have destroyed the robin population. Beaver and deer have lived together harmoniously since the beginning of time, and still are in Algonquin Park.

The reason for the decline in the deer population in this area is the same as it is in so many other areas, and with so many other animals and birds -- people, and more specifically, noisy people. With the advancing popularity of snowmobiles and dirt bikes, the deep woods is no longer restricted to the hunter, trapper and the native animals. There is no season when the woods are without noise produced by these machines; and the wildlife has retreated accordingly.

In reply to the "unsigned" criticism of the size of trapping grounds, let me say that 20,000 acres could be trapped out by an indiscriminate trapper in a very few years and that in some localities it is not unusual to have an entire township.

I might also add that sending amateurs to snare wolves would be disastrous, since they would be likely to wind up snaring more deer than wolves.

I am a trapper and hunter and I own a hunting camp. I am sure that many of the hunters and trappers in the area would agree with my comments.

Thank you for your consideration.

Yours very truly,
Allen M. Austen,
Minden, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

In the past two weeks local citizens have come to Cauldron Pharmacy with prescriptions from the Good Clinic written on stationary bearing the name Haliburton Pharmacy (operated by Jack Austin Drugs Ltd.) enquiring as to whether these could be filled at Cauldron Pharmacy. Many of the patients were under the misconception that these prescriptions must be filled at the Jack Austin Haliburton Pharmacy. This is absolutely false. The practice of writing prescriptions on pads bearing a pharmacy name is clearly spelled-out as a conflict of interest under the Health Disciplines Act. Once more we would like to make it perfectly clear that it is the patient's right, and only the patient's right as to where he or she chooses to receive their medication. No one has the right to interfere with a patient's choice as to the pharmacy they wish to patronize.

Bill Smiley

IF YOU have teenage children who may in the next decade get married and have children, it is not too early for you to start getting into condition. The life you save may be your own.

I'd suggest a lot of jogging, for a start. Get your wind together. You'll need it.

Then you should get your back in shape. Practice leaning over a bath-tub until you can do it for 10 minutes without a stitch or a twinge.

Next, you should work on your arms and shoulder muscles. I suggest you buy a baby cot and a high chair. Then get hold of a large plastic bag and fill it with 25 pounds of sand or old iron. Nails might be even better.

Now, put the bag of sand in the high chair and practice hoisting it out until you can do it 10 times in a row without puffing. Do the same with the baby's cot, with the sides up.

This is only a facsimile, of course, not the real thing. One hopes that the bag of sand will not be struggling, or screaming that it doesn't want its bib on, or doesn't want to go bye-byes.

Next, put on your winter clothes, tuck the bag of sand under one arm and a 20 lb. bag of groceries under the other, and practice walking out to the car with them, over the slippery sidewalk. If you see a dog or cat or kid, you must stop and look for a suitable interval, saying: "See the nice doggie," about eight times.

If you followed this regime for five years or so, you might be physically able to cope with a lively two-year-old grandson or daughter. I wish someone had warned me.

We're into our third week with Pokey, and we're getting a bit tattered around the edges.

When I was a young father and had young children of my own, for some reason I didn't get so exhausted.

Of course, then, I didn't get home from work until about 6.30. The kids were fed, bathed by their mother, and I told them their bed-time story. There was nothing to it.

Nowadays, I get home about 4.30, and a little demon hurls himself at me. He's just up, refreshed, after his nap, and I'm a little pooped after coping with the life styles of 150 adolescents. It's no contest.

I'm beginning to have the deepest sympathy for young mothers. With one child, it's about a 16-hour a day shift. With several young ones, it's got to be the modern answer to the Chinese water torture.

How many of you old-timers have tried recently to get an infant into one of those winter snowsuits? The boots won't go through the legs, the zippers won't zip. Yesterday, I spent eight minutes getting one leg in, and for once the zipper worked. I straightened up to draw breath and ease my back, looked down with some satisfaction, and saw to my horror that the child's leg was in the wrong leg of the snowsuit. Back to scratch.

Sunday, there was a fresh fall of snow, and I thought I'd take Pokey for a toboggan ride. After the usual ordeal of getting him dressed, I was sweating and puffing. He was calm and keen to get going.

Unfortunately, our house is surrounded by hills. If you start off downhill, you'll be going uphill on the way home. I was smart. I tackled the steepest hill, going up, so it would be easier, downhill, on the way back, when I'd be tired.

Oh yes, I was smart. Near the top of the first hill, an elderly lady, out shovelling her snow, remarked: "Well, you must be a devoted grandfather. I've seen men pulling kids on a toboggan before, but I've never seen one doing it on his hands and knees, pretending to be a sleigh dog." I wasn't pretending.

After three blocks, all uphill, we hit the road home. I didn't know, by this time, whether I was going up, down, or sideways. I was lathered in sweat and my knees were trembling like a virgin's on her honeymoon.

If you're wondering how your heart is, take your grandchild for a toboggan ride, preferably with long patches of bare sidewalk covered with sand. By the end of it, you'll either be dead, or you'll know your ticker is in pretty good shape.

But the outdoor games are mild compared with the indoor. At least, when he's swaddled in a snowsuit, he can't move much. All he could do was yell: "Go more!" every time I stopped, gasping.

Indoors, he's a living, breathing mobile. Favorite game is to line up at the other end of a 30-foot room, run as fast as he can, chortling fiendishly, and hurl himself, head-first, into my stomach.

On Saturday mornings, I like to read the book reviews in the daily paper. Last Saturday, I spent four hours trying to read a six-paragraph review. In between I was changing records on the record player, which must be playing simultaneously with the tape recorder, fetching drinks of juice and crackers with peanut butter, hoisting him onto the pot (he's too busy to be bothered), helping him build a train, trying to keep him from pulling the cat's tail, and 60 or 70 other things.

No wonder he likes it here. He's like a little prince, with two servile attendants who leap to cater to his every whim.

FEATHER PATTERNS — Many and varied are the patterns of feathers. Above are shown a few examples. (A) A secondary wing feather from a female Marsh Hawk, strongly barred with dark brown. Barring such as this is common among the hawks. The body feathers of ducks have a wide range of barred, spotted and finely vermiculated feathers. Shown are, (B) concentric rings, (C) bold bars, (D) streaked, (E) vermiculated, and (F) spotted. Combinations of these feathers in various colors make up the overall appearance of the bird. In the case of females the effect is nearly always one of camouflage.

Ontario has highest per capita ownership of life insurance

Since 1960, life insurance ownership in Ontario has increased by 185 per cent while net incomes have advanced by 160 per cent. For the rest of Canada, life insurance ownership has more than doubled while national incomes have risen by 175 per cent.

However, on a per capita basis, residents of Ontario lead those of other provinces in the amount of life insurance owned. The average owned per resident in Ontario is $9,100, in Quebec $8,900, in British Columbia $7,400, in the Prairie provinces $7,200 and in the Atlantic provinces $5,300.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

Haliburton County Public Library is proceeding with its plans to establish a collection of local history materials to be kept on deposit for the use of all those interested in the settlement and growth of our County.

This summer all burial grounds in the County will be indexed in order to make readily available the wealth of genealogical material that is to be found on headstones and in cemetery records.

Any persons interested in volunteering to help with this very worthwhile and interesting project should call: Laurie Brown at 457-2241.

Bill Scott M.P. speaks out in House of Commons debates

Mr. W. C. Scott (Victoria-Haliburton): Mr. Speaker, I will not say in my opening remarks that it is a pleasure to be able to speak today on Bill C-84. It has never been a pleasure for me to rise in this House and discuss the pros and cons of the death penalty. However, I feel now as I have always felt that it is my responsibility to take part in these debates. It is my responsibility as a member of parliament, my responsibility to my constituents, and my responsibility to myself as a concerned Canadian.

I call again on the government to reinstate the death penalty for premeditated murders. I do so in the full knowledge that it is the will of the great majority of Canadians that we take drastic and serious measures to protect them from those people in our society who would take the life of another. I ask for the reinstatement of the death penalty for capital murder not because I have a low regard for life, but rather because I have such a high regard for life. I believe sincerely that we in the House have a higher responsibility to the law abiding citizens of Canada than to those who take the law in their own hands.

Our responsibility is all the greater in that we cannot pass the buck along to someone else, and wipe our hands of the unpleasant duty of making a firm decision on this matter. The buck stops right here. It is an awesome responsibility to have to assume, the responsibility of deciding whether or not a person convicted of deliberate, premeditated murder, should pay with his or her own life. I have never pretended that it is easy to say simply that someone or other must die by order of a court, and ultimately by order of the parliament of Canada.

We can make it easy though, if we want to, Mr. Speaker; we can say that state-ordered executions are murders in themselves, and pass the buck along to our courts, our prison system, our parole boards and along to the sociologists and criminologists and the rest of the bleeding hearts. We can wash our hands of this matter easily enough, and in fact the cabinet has been doing just that since the majority of members in this House decided several years ago to adopt this government's compromise solution to the problem of capital punishment. We decided that only murderers of policemen or prison guards should suffer the death penalty, but although several death penalties have been imposed by our courts under that law, not a single penalty has been carried out. The cabinet has commuted every sentence imposed during that period.

I said that we could make it easy on ourselves by passing along the responsibility for making a decision on capital punishment, Mr. Speaker, but that is not the same as saying that we have a moral right to do so. We know that no one else will make a decision, even if we were able to give them the authority. We know that everyone else, except our courts, takes the easy way out by adopting the holier-than-thou position of opposing capital punishment on moral grounds. This great liberal morality does not extend to the victims of murderers, however; it extends only to the murderers, as though they suddenly become a part of some higher civilization, or a cult of people who are above the law and above the condemnation of the very society against which they have raised their hand.

I maintain that we cannot avoid the moral responsibility before us any longer, Mr. Speaker. We must make a decision without too much delay that we will not and cannot look upon deliberate and premeditated murder as anything but what it is. Willful murder and treason against one's own country are capital crimes. The argument that a civilized and sophisticated society does not condone state-ordered executions does not hold water. As the member for Frontenac-Lennox and Addington (Mr. Alkenbrack) pointed out a few days ago in this House, a state that maintains a judiciary like ours, with its avenues of appeal and our reverence for justice, cannot commit murder.

Some people have used the argument that the state commits murder if it sentences its own citizens to death for capital crimes, but I consider that argument to be feeble and baseless. I consider it to be a cop-out. If the time comes when we consider murder and treason to be less than capital crimes, then I think that our days as a free and democratic country are numbered. When we decide that we do not want to fight back, that we do not consider it important to win the war that is being waged within our country between the law abiding and the lawless, then this great country of ours from that time on will be less than great.

When we are elected to parliament, those who vote for us must surely believe that we are capable and competent, and that we have the courage to make decisions and stick by them, no matter how distasteful those decisions might be to us personally. Not all of the decisions that we make here can be entirely to our liking. The alternatives to avoiding unpleasant decisions usually are more unpleasant in the long haul, and this is one of the reasons I insist that capital crimes in our society must carry the death penalty. The alternative that has been proposed by the government, 25 years in prison, has already incurred the wrath of the do-gooders and the social experts. They say that this is just as inhuman and inhumane as the death penalty. They wonder out loud how any civilized society could even think of caging up one of its own citizens for 25 years. Of course, Mr. Speaker, none of these experts and bleeding hearts propose any credible alternatives to the death penalty, or to the longer prison sentence. The best they can do is to condemn our proposals, and renounce our decisions.

When this House adopted the government's compromise solution to the question of capital punishment, it was a trade-off. In place of abolition we adopted selective capital punishment for murderers of policemen and prison guards. This presumably satisfied the abolitionists and the retentionists as well. The abolitionists could feel satisfied that the majority of murderers would escape the noose, and that in the cases where the death penalty applied, there was always the possibility that the cabinet would commute the sentences of convicted murderers of police officers. They had everything going for them, including a justice minister who was a public-avowed abolitionist.

On the other hand, the retentionists believed that the government would live up to the mandate of parliament.

We believed that the government would honour their own commitment to execute convicted murderers of policemen and prison guards in exchange for this limited application of capital punishment. The fact is that they did not live up to their mandate from parliament, and they did not honour their own commitment. We have de facto abolition of capital punishment, and this speaks louder than anything else I can think of against the conscience of this government.

• (1140)

The trade off did not work, except to get the Minister of Justice (Mr. Basford) and the Solicitor General (Mr. Allmand) off the hook. I have always maintained that we do not have a moral right to engage in trade offs on an issue as important to our society as capital punishment. We have a moral responsibility to face this issue head on, and if we are called to make an unpleasant decision or if we are called upon to decide that persons convicted of a deliberate murder should pay with their own lives, then we must do that and live with our decision. It would take a lot more courage to do that than just to pass the buck along, but I hope that we possess that much courage.

During the years that the capital punishment issue has been before parliament many members have suggested that this is a matter for the people of our country to settle by way of a national referendum, and I am one who believes that this is the only way it can be settled once and for all. In a survey conducted recently by the Metropolitan Toronto Police Association 55,282 people responded that the issue of capital punishment should be decided by a national vote, while only 3,444 felt that it should be decided in a forum such as the House of Commons. In this survey 55,374 people said they believed that capital punishment should be applied in the case of anyone convicted of the murder of any citizen during the commission of a crime. I would take this a step further and say that the act of premeditated murder is the crime which is being committed, and so I cannot distinguish between this premeditated murder and a murder committed during another type of crime.

The hon. member for Provencher (Mr. Epp) pointed out in his remarks on Bill C-84 that the abolitionists are playing down the overwhelming public support for capital punishment. The abolitionists say that we should not be influenced by the opinion polls which have been conducted on this subject around the country by various groups and agencies. If the polls were to show that the majority of Canadians were opposed to capital punishment, we would see and hear an awful lot of statistics from the abolitionists. However, they and we know that the polls show that anywhere from 75 per cent to 95 per cent of Canadians want to return to capital punishment, and the majority of them want a return to capital punishment for all premeditated murder.

The survey conducted by the Metropolitan Toronto Police Association indicates that 87.6 per cent of the 68,745 people responding to the poll favour a return to the death penalty. In my own riding of Victoria-Haliburton, of the people who contacted me on this subject, 95.66 per cent were in favour of retaining the death penalty for the crime of murder. They are concerned about the alarming rise in violent crime in Canada today. These people are concerned about the fact that the murder rate in Canada has doubled in the past ten years, and that is the actual rate per 100,000 people, as noted by the hon. member for Provencher.

The government has only itself to blame for the present public demands that we reinstate the death penalty for all types of premeditated murder. This government was given a mandate by parliament ten years ago, and this was reaffirmed four years ago. That mandate was about as simple and straightforward as a mandate could be. It called for the death penalty for murderers of police officers and prison officials, but as has been pointed out over and over again in these debates, not one convicted murderer of a policeman or prison guard has been executed.

In every speech I have made on this subject I have asked why there are so many people in our society, in the government and in the private sector who rush to the defence of murderers, while the victims of those murderers are ignored, forgotten and in most cases hardly even given a thought. I agree with those who say that executing a murderer will not bring his victim back to life, but I am convinced that it would serve notice on others who might plan to commit murders that the price is high, too high to make it worth the chance of being caught. I am one of those who feels that the death penalty would be a deterrent to premeditated murder.

I must add my voice to those who ask where our society is going. I join the chorus of those who ask how we could devote so much time and effort to securing the comfort and wellbeing of those convicted of murder and other violent crimes. It is obvious from the volume of mail which all members of parliament are receiving on this subject that the Canadian people are concerned about the kind of society this government is creating in Canada, and it is just as obvious that the great majority of Canadians are not prepared to accept that kind of society.

Much has been said about the manner in which the government should execute murderers, and I know that many people feel uncomfortable about even discussing methods of implementing the death penalty. I share that feeling to some extent, but I do not allow it to influence my thinking on the necessity for applying the death penalty. If anyone has such strong feelings about the inhumanity of hanging, then let us establish first of all that the death penalty will be retained and then seek an alternative to hanging as the method of applying the penalty.

I would like to say a few words about the study commissioned by the Solicitor General on capital punishment. Judging by the negative results the minister obtained from the report on that study, I suggest that the minister would like to forget the report. However, the fact is that the minister did commission a known abolitionist criminologist, a person who presumably came to Canada from Egypt and who quite obviously does not know very much about Canadians to make this study. This criminologist, Ezzat Fattah, who now teaches at Simon Fraser University, was apparently quite upset to learn that his own survey revealed that 70 per cent to 80 per cent of Canadians favour a return to the death penalty for all types of murder.

Mr. Fattah then proceeded to write in his report that these people are vindictive, bloodthirsty, unforgiving, uneducated, insecure, ignorant and harbouring right wing political sentiments. He had other unpleasant things to say about Canadians who feel that those who commit brutal and vicious premeditated murder should pay with their own lives. Mr. Fattah's bias destroys any credibility and any value his report might have had, and I simply put it down as a disgusting spectacle. I must add that I am appalled that the Solicitor General would associate his name and his high office with the report.

By way of contrast I would like to read into the record a few comments which I have received from constituents. A doctor whose son was killed by one of the participants in a fight wrote me a letter which will stick in my mind for as long as I live. The son was an innocent victim, was, in fact, almost a block away from where the fight was going on and was struck by a bullet meant for someone else. The doctor was on duty at his hospital and when his son was brought in hon. members can just imagine his shock at seeing that it was his son realizing that he did not stand any chance of surviving the gunshot wound. The son died in his father's arms, and it is very likely that the murderer will be back on the streets before we resolve this issue of capital punishment. The doctor said in his letter that he was afraid that many hon. members would vote on Bill C-84 according to their own consciences rather than according to the consciences of the thousands of Canadians in their ridings.

Another letter, signed by 12 responsible and respected constituents, states that opinion polls indicate that the vast majority of Canadians want a return to capital punishment for capital murder as a deterrent to the rise in terrorism and murder. Another writer says that Canadians are not motivated by a wish for revenge when they demand the return of the death penalty, but rather because they realize that a law is only as strong as the penalty prescribed and imposed for infractions of that law. Still another writes: "I wonder how the Solicitor General would feel about coddling murderers if some of his own kin were murdered."

In conclusion, I would like to point out that there is a very great concern in our country that murder will become a status symbol among criminals if we continue to allow murderers to escape the consequences of their actions. As we lessen the severity of the penalties for violent crimes, and especially murder, the commission of murder is not the risky business that it ought to be. I am concerned about the evidence that already exists that cop killers are considered peers among the criminal fraternity. It is a sad commentary upon our government when it becomes a symbol of status in a segment of our society to be convicted of beating up a policeman, or even murdering a policeman.

• (1150)

We can remove this status symbol through the simple expedient of executing these people. It would not take more than one or two executions to eliminate this cancer from the side of our society. I say to this government that, while it would be an extreme measure, we cannot do any less than that if we are to live up to the mandate that we have been given by the people of Canada, a mandate from parliament is a mandate from the people. We cannot ignore them.

More women becoming career bankers

Women employees of the Canadian chartered banks now work in a more hospitable environment with greater potential for training and advancement than they did six years ago, according to a study of employment in the industry by Marianne Bossen, a Winnipeg consulting economist.

Her report cautions, however, that there is much to be done if the potential of women in banking is to be fully realized.

The study was jointly sponsored and financed by the Advisory Council on the Status of Women (ACSW) and the Canadian Bankers' Association (CBA), the industry association of the chartered banks, as an International Women's Year undertaking.

Canada's more than 7,000 bank branches employ about 131,700 people, of whom approximately 96,000 or 72 per cent are women.

The study pinpoints some significant trends that have occurred since an earlier survey by Miss Bossen in 1969 for the Royal Commission on the Status of Women:

- The number of female branch managers has increased more than fivefold since 1969 compared with an increase of 19 per cent in the number of branches, reflecting in part "deliberate bank policy to make better use of women's potential".

- The number of women enrolled in the Institute of Canadian Bankers, the CBA's educational division, rose to 44 per cent of all students in 1974-75 from less than five per cent in 1969, indicating "higher level aspirations in women themselves and more self-confidence than in the previous decade". (Since Miss Bossen conducted her research the number of women taking ICB courses has passed the 50 per cent mark for the first time, the CBA says.)

Dr. Katie Cooke, chairman of the ACSW, congratulated the banks for their "initiative in conducting a self-examination."

J. Allan Boyle, president of the CBA and executive vice-president and chief general manager of the Toronto Dominion Bank, said the study confirms the success of efforts in the industry to open career opportunities to all employees on an equal basis.

Miss Bossen's study says the image of 'banker' as an exclusively male occupation is on the way towards obsolescence. Women have moved up into middle management positions, although their numbers are still few.

"But further promotions into middle management should be possible in the foreseeable future because of their greater numerical representation in junior management positions.

"New female entrants to the industry who bring with them career ambitions and post-secondary school education, can expect to be admitted immediately into training programs that, together with experience, will make bankers out of them."

Health and Welfare

OTTAWA - May 10, 1976 - Bryce Mackasey, minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs and Marc Lalonde, minister of Health and Welfare today announced a ban on microscope immersion oils based on polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB's) formulations.

PCBs have recently been shown to cause cancer in some animals; however, no known cases of cancer in humans have been attributed to PCBs. Immersion oils containing PCBs are not encountered by the general public but have been used regularly by hospital and other laboratory technicians in the microscopic examination of tissue specimens and other biological material.

The ban, instituted as a precautionary measure, has been introduced under the Hazardous Products Act and is effective immediately. It is now an offence under the Act to import, advertise or sell microscope immersion oils containing polychlorinated biphenyls.

Laboratories which still have stocks of PCB-based immersion oils on hand are urged to cease using them at the earliest possible date in order to protect laboratory staff. Special procedures should be followed in disposing of stocks of these oils and anyone with immersion oils containing PCBs should contact the nearest office of Environment Canada regarding disposal instructions.

Series V Olympic Stamp Sculptures available

OTTAWA- The final set in a series of precious metal sculptures, reproducing Olympic postage stamps in gold, silver, and bronze, is now available for purchase, the Canada Post Office announced today.

Series V in the sculpture sets will be replicas of stamps to be issued by Canada Post June 18, commemorating key ceremonies of the 1976 Olympic Games being held a month later in Montreal - the Flame Ceremony, Opening Ceremony and Victory Ceremony.

The prior four series of precious metal Olympic Stamp Sculptures were reproductions of Olympic Action Stamps depicting team sports and gymnastics, water sports, combat sports and the official symbol of the Montreal Olympics.

The sculptures are available in pure gold, deep cast fine silver, and burnished bronze. Precious metal Olympic Stamp Sculptures can be viewed as a new and unique item for art collectors, as a distinctive gift, or as a family heirloom to be passed on to future generations. Closing date of sale of this final series will be Sept. 3.

Each gold stamp sculpture in this series contains 23.33 grams (0.75 troy ounces) of 24-karat pure gold. Silver stamps each have 15.55 grams of .999 fine silver (0.50 troy ounces). Bronze sculptures contain 15.55 grams of bronze (0.50 troy ounces). All sculptures in this series measure 30 mm by 36 mm, the same size as the stamps that inspired them.

To certify that each stamp sculpture is officially issued by the Government of Canada, the mint's hallmark, the Canada Post Seal, and the weight and quality of the metal are struck on the back. Such marks assure the purchaser that the rigidly controlled minting of the sculptures is matched by their intrinsic value as precious metals.

In addition, an individual serial number appears on the back of the sculpture. This last element is particularly significant, since the number will not be duplicated on any other stamp sculpture(s) of the same metal in this series.

The selling price of the bronze set will be $30, the silver $60, and the gold set $750. Combination sets containing one bronze, one silver and one gold stamp sculpture are also available at $300, while bronze singles sell for $12.50, silver singles for $25., and gold singles for $250. each.

Orders should be forwarded, together with a money order or cheque made payable to the Receiver General for Canada, to:

Olympic Stamp Sculptures, Canada Post Office, P.O. Box. 8990, OTTAWA, Ontario, K1G 3J2

Order forms are available in any post office or sub-post office. Samples of the new series will be on view at any postal philatelic outlet.

This endeavour is part of the Canada Post Office's program to raise funds to help finance the 1976 Summer Olympics in Montreal and to provide financial support for amateur athletics and the training of Canadian athletes for these Games.

New energy conservation program

Ontario Hydro has created a new Energy Conservation Division charged with responsibility "for the major and aggressive program required if we are to avoid a gap in the near future between demand and power resources available," Douglas J. Gordon, Hydro President announced today.

Mr. Gordon said, "when Hydro announced recently the decision to cut back the generation program by $5.2 billion, it was recognized conservation is the central issue facing Hydro today."

The new Division, headed by H.K. Wright, formerly Director of Customer Service, will work closely with the public at large, governments at various levels, municipal utilities, customer and trade organizations in industry and commerce.

The Division will "undertake all necessary steps to meet the corporation's objectives related to energy conservation and customer application measures."

It will also co-ordinate and originate measures in Hydro's external and internal conservation activities.

On the farm front

BY RALPH BARRIE*

Much has been said and written in the past weeks about the plight of the milk producer, and, more particularly, the plight of the industrial milk producer.

To one who has been involved with milk groups and policy development for some 17 years, it is frustrating to see the present mess taking shape, crystallizing itself in the present dairy policy.

To dairy farmers who have watched the evolution of the industry, from four milk groups to a marketing board responsible for all the buying, selling and policy making of the industry, it is a bitter disappointment to witness and to suffer from the penalties inherent in the current policy.

Formula Pricing

Many of us breathed a sigh of relief at the creation of a formula pricing system for industrial milk in 1975.

It seemed that finally, after all the years, our needs were to be met with a formula that would adjust the price to reflect the costs of rising inputs and overhead.

It was exhilarating to be told by both the federal and provincial governments and by the dairy organizations that there was a broad market for our product. We were given incentives to pull the plug and produce, produce, produce.

It was a short ride. The balloon rode high and wide, but the leaks soon became apparent.

Overproduction

What happened is simple. Overproduction! Dairy farmers all across the country, encouraged by their milk boards and governments produced as much as possible. This, along with a superb fodder crop and rock-bottom beef prices, resulted in an incredible amount of milk.

No one argues that such a surplus must not occur again, least of all the dairy farmer. However, we bitterly protest paying the total cost. We know we have overproduced. We know we must cut back. But we must have time and assistance to make this adjustment.

Quotas

As announced at the beginning of 1975, milk quotas have been established for 1976 and thereafter based on the 1975 production. Because of the overproduction, this means that every dairy farmer has a quota which is a certain percentage less than his '75 production. In Ontario, the quotas are established as 85 per cent of '75 production.

Cows cannot be turned on and off, so this means dairy farmers will either have to sell their cows in a depressed market or ship their surplus milk, for which they will be virtually not paid, because of the present penalties. It's not much of a prospect either way!

Long Range Effects

Many of us will be poorer financially than we expected and than we can afford, but I'm afraid the long range effects will be much more severe than that.

Some of us will just say to hell with it and cash in, particularly if we are in the range of high land prices.

Others facing the phasing out of cans are not likely to invest in bulk tanks and new milk houses, and will either quit farming or switch to other types of farming.

But the greatest danger, I think, is that it will be a long time before farmers will favourably react to incentive programs.

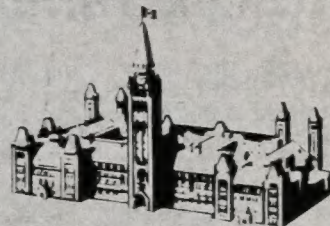

A Better Way

Surely, with modern technology, we can keep better track of production and consumption patterns? Surely we don't have to wait for shortages or surpluses to take action? Surely there's a way for the decision-makers to consult and negotiate with producers rather than waiting till we have problems and then ordering cutbacks or incentive programs.

There's got to be a better way.

* Ralph Barrie is second vice-president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture which represents nearly 24,000 farmers. He operates a dairy farm in Perth, Ontario.

OTTAWA and Small Business

A pattern for Canada

By KENNETH McDONALD

Instead of trying to copy Central Canada, the poorer regions of the nation should be learning from the Third World. Their problems are the same: surplus of labour and shortage of capital.

In Canada, attempts are made to help weaker provinces by transferring income from the more prosperous regions through equalization payments, unemployment insurance and other forms of social assistance. This policy prolongs the dependence of the poorer regions while discouraging them from trying to overcome it. It also assumes that transfers can be supported indefinitely by continued growth in the other regions. That assumption collapses with the economic slowdown caused by higher energy costs.

The introduction, into a depressed region, of publicly-financed projects and industries unsuited to the area distorts the cost and availability of labour to the detriment of local industry. Large shopping plazas in cities impoverish rural communities by luring business away. Transfer payments to individuals are used to buy goods made outside the region. Yet, instead of correcting this senseless policy, politicians call for more social spending by government to patch up its victims.

The Canadian Federation of Independent Business predicts that by the year 2000 much of the development in North America will be patterned on policies now being pursued by the Third World -- rural industry and small-scale technology.

High energy costs will make much of our present long-haul distribution from centralized production uneconomical. Many centralized, automated, manufacturing processes made uneconomical by high energy costs will be replaced by local, labour-intensive industry. This is the direction Atlantic Canada and other depressed regions should be taking today.

Development depends not on goods, but on people developing qualities to sustain themselves. Rural areas of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland need cottage industries where people can make saleable products in their homes from local materials. New Brunswick needs low-cost, power-driven farm implements for small holdings to make the province self-sufficient in food. In the whole Atlantic region, consortia of retailers should be organized to support local suppliers.

Canada cannot support ever-growing transfer payments, nor subsidize the ballooning costs of transportation which are bound up with the present model of big institutions and big cities. Future development must be geared to a more diffused economic model of stable, self-supporting communities.

Pot Luck Dinner held by senior citizens

An event of prime importance took place on Tuesday, June 8th, when the Monmouth Senior Citizens' Club held their regular Pot Luck Dinner at The Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre, Wilberforce. These dinners are held every second Tuesday of the month. Fifty-seven enthusiastic members and guests from neighbouring clubs partook of a delicious meal which included a variety of delectable casserole dishes, salads, home-made bread and buns, and various desserts.

After dinner everyone was,

Liberal accuses N.D.P. of taking two attitudes

Julian Reed, Liberal MPP for Halton-Burlington, today accused the New Democratic Party of taking one attitude in public and another in the shelter of the select committee on hydro rates.

"I was very disappointed by the actions of the N.D.P. Members of the Select Committee on the matter of an independent study of the Bradley-Georgetown Hydro corridor", said Mr. Reed. "Two of the three N.D.P. members voted against an independent study, and when the decision resulted in a split vote - 5 in favour, 5 against - the Chairman of the committee, Donald MacDonald of the New Democratic Party, voted against such a study. This is particularly surprising, when one considers that Mr. MacDonald is that Party's agriculture critic, and should be vitally concerned about anything which affects our valuable agricultural land."

"Stephen Lewis has made a number of speeches, dramatically emphasizing his Party's intention to fight the Government on this question of hydro corridors. Yet when it comes to taking a vote in committee, the majority of N.D.P. members do not support an independent study. There can be no doubt that there is a credibility gap free to take part in entertainment activities. These consisted of card games, carpet bowling, and dancing. The club is fortunate in having Mr. Jack Gédney of Cardiff attend on the occasion of the pot luck dinners as well as the Fourth Tuesday of every month to supply the music for dancing, to give assistance and to be the caller for the square dancing. Square dancing always proves to be a great source of fun and amusement for those participating. The dedication and devotion of Jack and his wife Doris to the club is much, appreciated.

The club is happy and proud to announce an addition of five new members at the June 8th meeting, making a total of 100 members. The one hundredth member to be registered was Mrs. Price, Wilberforce and in honour of this occasion a special dinner is to be held at the centre some time this summer, the date is to be announced later on.

Members, guests and friends please take note of the change of time for the regular club meetings. Starting June 15th, meetings will commence at 7 p.m. every Tuesday through to the end of August or until further notice. Various indoor and outdoor activities will be carried on during this time. The club would like to make it known that all visitors, including summer visitors, are always welcome to attend the club meetings at the centre in Wilberforce.

That's right ...

$400. and a gold medal is yours if you can write the best essay on what the THE ECHO means to you.

"This is a unique award made to the reader of a CCNA member paper who best describes in his or her own words just what the weekly paper means to him or her. It is not open to the paper's staff or regular contributors.

The objective is to encourage the readers of weekly papers themselves to think about what their newspaper means to them, their families, their lives and their communities and to set these thoughts down in straightforward language. Polished literary expression is not sought."

This written expression of frank opinion should be at least 250 words, and not more than 700. Judges will not look for excessively high praise of the weekly; they will study the judgement and understanding by readers of the paper's function. This could come from a paper of any size - large or small.

Township of Glamorgan

Financial Statement

To the Members of Council, Inhabitants and Ratepayers of the Corporation of the Township of Glamorgan

BALANCE SHEET AS AT DECEMBER 31, 1975
[NOTE 1]
(with comparative figures for 1974)

We have examined the 1975 financial statements of the Township of Glamorgan and its local cemetery board. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Township of Glamorgan and its local board as at December 31, 1975 and the results of their operations for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted for Ontario municipalities applied, after giving retroactive effect to the changes referred to in note 4 to the financial statements, on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Liberal Leader Stuart Smith states Government of Ontario must obey the law

"The government of Ontario must obey the law just as every other citizen has to", Liberal Leader Stuart Smith today told the Pembroke Liberal Association.

Smith told the Pembroke meeting, "The fact that the Ontario government has been challenged twice in the courts within the last month on the question of overstepping its power is a warning to the Ontario people. They have lost the first case and the second concerning the Anti Inflation Board is presently being heard. Perhaps they feel they rule by divine right."

"This government closed the hospitals one day after the Legislature broke for Christmas recess. The members of the Legislature - the representatives of the people were stripped of their power. On top of this, the people in the communities affected weren't even consulted. Finally, the Divisional Court ruled it was illegal for the government to use the Ontario Hospitals Act to close community hospitals. The government had abused its powers."

"The government refused to deal with increased wage demands by teachers, hospital worker, and civil servants in a time when restraint is needed. It decided to send them all to Ottawa and thus avoid the thorny political issue. Now, McKeough takes credit for Ottawa's toughness, but can put the blame on Ottawa when people complain."

"Whatever the legalities politically, it is clear they want to avoid the Legislature. They prefer the backroom decision by the Cabinet. It was never brought before the Legislature for debate. Now, the province is before the Supreme Court of Canada to try to justify the legal aspects of avoiding the Legislature."

Smith cited the government's use of management board orders as another, "blow to democracy in this province". "Only when the Legislature is not sitting and only when the government has an emergency need for money is the cabinet justified in passing management board orders. These orders are designed to give the government money when it is over budget at a time when the Legislature is not sitting, and therefore is unable to approve additional funds."

"However, this arrogant government defied the Legislature and processed more than $100 million in management board orders, much when the Legislature was sitting. The Tories thought we wouldn't catch them until the auditor's report came down the next year."

Smith also attacked the government for stripping individuals of their rights.

"People living between Bradley and Georgetown has first hand knowledge of this government's ability to make a mockery of their rights. Public hearings were held for two full years after the cabinet had already made its decision to go ahead with the Bradley-Georgetown hydro corridor. The government withheld the fact that the decision had already been made in May 1974 in order to con people into thinking the public hearings would have meaningful impact.

"Regional government is another example of Queen's Park playing dictator. Again, the people had no real input into the decision-making."

Smith told the meeting, "These are merely examples of how the Davis government is poisoning participatory democracy in our province. No government is above the law. Ontario needs to be rid of the Davis government which continues to ignore people and the people's representatives."

Hall's Lake news

It is good to see Mrs. Jean Baird back at her cottage for the season. She likes to get out for a walk and is quite active.

Hello to the Robert Conways from Orchard Park, Buffalo, who have opened up their pleasant cottage. Sorry to learn their cottage had already been visited by someone who felt it necessary to kick the door in.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nixon of Erin, Ontario, visited with his sister, Mr. Jean Wheeler, on Kushog Lake, recently.

Ross and Verna Warden held a party for cottage friends of Gordon and Marg. Stroud at Big Hawk Lake recently, on the occasion of the Stroud's 40th Wedding Anniversary as of June 6th. Congratulations!

It was good to see the former Carolyn Hewitt at the Reception held in Guelph on Friday evening for Rosemary and Bill Woods. Many young school friends, plus many good old family friends and neighbours gathered to wish the happy couple a Happy Married Life. It was a beautiful and happy occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferris spent a few days visiting in Toronto last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lindsay enjoyed the wedding of their daughter Sharon to Mr. Larry Webb in Toronto recently. It was a lovely day weather-wise and everything went off well. The happy couple left for a honeymoon trip to the East Coast.

Mr. Roy Anderson is taking therapy in Ross Memorial Hospital, Mr. Pete Sawyer is home from hospital for a time, and Mrs. Mabel Sawyer is in Minden Hospital. We do wish all the best to these local folks, and any others who may be ill.

Congratulations to Michael Johnson, son of Helen and Lloyd, who recently graduated from Sir Wilfred Laurier University. Michael will be entering Huron College in the Fall working toward a Degree in Master of Divinity. Michael lived here at the Lake during his early school years and it is good to hear of his accomplishments and aspirations.

Sorry to learn that our regular mailman, Mr. Amos Brubacher, is undergoing surgery in Lindsay, and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Found guilty of UIC fraud

A Trent River man, Danny Huggins, was found guilty on June 1, 1976 in regards to two counts of fraud in connection with his claim for unemployment insurance benefits.

Judge L.T.G. Collins of Peterborough directed Huggins to repay the UIC $10.00 per week until the overpayment of $252.00 is repaid. He also fined Huggins $100.00 on each count of fraud or 10 days consecutive in jail for default.

A special tribute paid to

Dr. O.W. Anderson at Bancroft

A grateful community of friends and past patients paid tribute to Dr. O.W. Anderson at a tea held on Sunday, June 6th, in the Legion Hall at Bancroft.

Dr. Anderson who was a pioneer doctor in every sense is now a resident at Extendicare Haliburton. He has devoted the greater part of his life in the practise of medicine in Bancroft and its surrounding area.

Dr. Anderson's first practice was in Whitney, briefly, later in Maynooth, to which he was to return after short stays in Toronto and Coe Hill, and a year spent in New York where he specialized in X-rays.

Settling in Bancroft in 1935, Dr. and Mrs. Anderson remained in Bancroft where he practiced until retirement last year.

In 1935, there was no up-to-date Red Cross Hospital. Only the old hospital located in the present OPP station in Bancroft, but it did yeoman's service and miracles of surgery were performed there by Dr. Anderson and his team mate, the late Dr. S.S. Lumb.

Mrs. Anderson, a true Doctor's wife, was his faithful assistant working by his side throughout those first years.

Seminar on energy management for school maintenance staff

The Ministry of Education Ontario Hydro and Consumers' Gas Limited are sponsoring an agency management seminar in Barrie, June 9 for the maintenance staff of seven area school boards.

Participating in the one day program will be the maintenance staff from the Haliburton, Victoria and Dufferin County Boards of Education, the Simcoe and Peel-Dufferin County Roman Catholic Separate School Boards and the Protestant Separate School Board of the Town of Penetanguishene and Canadian Forces Base Borden Board of Education. Eight representatives from the Victoria County Board plan to attend.

The seminar delegates will discuss various operating techniques which can be employed to conserve energy and, at the same time, provide the service which those using school facilities require. The Ontario Government has set a target to reduce the consumption of energy by one third by 1980.

Participants will also discuss the use of lighting, ventilation, operations, boiler maintenance, control equipment, building repair and other topics related to conserving energy in school facilities.

The seminar, the second of a series to be held across the province, will be held at Georgian College.

Natural Resources receiving numerous calls regarding forest pests

The Ministry of Natural Resources has received numerous calls this spring regarding the identification and control of certain forest pests. Insects are classed into one of five main groups but the most serious in the Lindsay District are classed as defoliators. Damage by these insects is caused through consumption of the chlorophyll-bearing portion of the needles or leaves. It is during the larval period of the life cycle that the damage is caused. Damage can range from very light to severe and repeated defoliation can cause the untimely death of the tree.

Some of the more common insects are listed below along with their physical description, main host and approximate time of year when damage is at its peak.

European Pine Sawfly

The larvae are green with black heads and have dark longitudinal stripes on the body. They normally feed on the previous years growth of red pine from the middle of May to the middle of June.

Yellow-Headed Spruce Sawfly

Infestations around the Balsam Lake area were quite severe during 1975. The feeding larvae are olive green with conspicuous yellow heads. The insects feed only on spruce usually during June.

Cedar Leaf Miner

The miner is a very small insect that feeds within the cedar leaves causing browning of the branch tips. They feed during early May and late August causing the tree to have a very ragged appearance.

Birch Leaf Miner

Like the cedar miner, the birch miner feeds between the upper and lower leaf surfaces leaving a scorched appearance. Feeding usually occurs in early May and again in late July or early August.

Eastern Tent Caterpillar

This insect is about one and one half inches long, black in colour with a yellow strip down the back. It is conspicuous because of the silk thread tent used for protection when not feeding. They usually prefer wild cherry and flowering crabs where they form a "Tent" in a branch fork but rarely do they kill the tree.

Forest Tent Caterpillar

This caterpillar is about two inches long, hairy and brownish with a slate blue stripe along each side. They do not form a tent but make a silken mat on the trunk where they congregate during rest periods. They feed on poplar, sugar maple, oak, ash and birch during May and June.

When spraying with pesticides please use extreme care and keep out of reach of children. If you have insect problems please contact your nearest Ministry office for advice on the proper procedures.

FIRE FIRE!!

Recent articles in newspapers and other news media dealing with the Forest Fire situation, reveals a very serious situation existing in the northern and western parts of the province. While the fire situation in the Lindsay District presently is low, this District has to date sent 2 1/4 miles of fire hose and one staff member to assist in the northern fire situation.

Please be careful when travelling in our forests.

Provincial Park campgrounds to change electrical outlets

To conform to revised Canadian electrical standards, trailer electrical outlets at 25 Ontario Provincial Park campgrounds will be converted to a new style this year, Minister of Natural Resources Leo Bernier announced today.

"We are planning to make the changeover as painless as possible for trailer owners who still have the old style. Parks will loan out converter plugs to campers on request," said Mr. Bernier.

The new plug-outlet configuration conforms to Ontario Hydro Electrical Safety Rule No. 72-110; ANSI configuration C73-13-1966, for 30-amp outlets. There is no change in 15 amp outlets.

Provincial parks to be converted to the new style 30 amp outlet include the following: Arrowhead (118 campsites equipped with electrical outlets), Balsam Lake (53), Blue Lake (47), Carillon (60), Chutes (52), Darlington (104), Earl Rowe (83), Emily (107), Ivanhoe (48), Kakabeka Falls (52), Kap-Kig-Iwan (32), Kettle Lakes (83), Long Point (68), McLeod (30), McRae Point (131), Neys (25), Pancake Bay (67), Pinery (130), Point Farms (42), Remi Lake (56), Restoule (49), Rondeau (12), Rushing River (20), Selkirk (55), and Sibbald Point (123).

Electrical outlets at Ipperwash and Craigleith are an older type without 30 amp circuits and therefore will not be affected by the conversion.

The changeover is expected to be completed by June 15, 1976, prior to the heavy July-August use of provincial parks.

Trent-Severn news

The warm dry weather of this past week June 4-11 has resulted in a reduction of inflow into the Waterway which in turn has meant that the flow out of the Otonabee River has been reduced to the minimum.

As of June 8, the storage on the Reservoir Lakes was 95% of full, however before the end of this week it became necessary to draw a small amount from storage.

The total amount of precipitation for the month of June to this date, June 11, is .8 mm as recorded at the Peterborough Weather Office.

A further continuation of this warm dry weather over the week-end will increase the water temperature and result in a correspondent increase in evaporation.

If this should occur there will be an increase in the amount of water presently being drawn from the Reservoir Lakes.

Haliburton Highlights

This coming Saturday will be a big day in Haliburton. Over 60 boats have now been entered for the North Ontario Championships of the Ontario Power Boat Association Regatta. This guarantees a busy, noisy and colourful spectacle on Head Lake for this coming Saturday afternoon June 19th. The place to be on Saturday, June 19th, will be Head Lake in Haliburton at the first big Power Boat Regatta.

Municipal employees were busy last Thursday cutting the grass at Rotary Beach and the Rotary Beach and Park is now in perfect shape for the summer season.

The church family picnic for St. George's Anglican Church will be held at Halimar Resort at 2 o'clock this coming Sunday, June 20th. As well as a time of relaxation there will be swimming, tennis, horseshoes, ping pong etc. Hoping for good weather.

The Beaconbrook Motor Hotel is now under new management with nightly entertainment. The diningroom with five course meals will be open very soon. The Beaconbrook is fully licensed by the L.L.B.O.

The motion picture Grizzly drew good crowds at both the Beaver and Molou Theatres over the past weekend.

In this country of countless lakes and rivers, our summer season naturally finds thousands of vacationers enjoying the pleasures of water sport and aquatic recreation. For those on holiday at the cottage, beach or resort, the pleasure boat can become as important as the family car. Indeed, Canadians each year make use of approximately one million leisure crafts from canoes and sailboats to large yachts.

Walter Best will be the guest speaker when the Hyland Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen Fellowship International hold their monthly meeting this Saturday, June 19th at 7:00 p.m. at the Kosy Korner Restaurant. Rev. Walter Best is Founder and Pastor of the Fellowship Centre in Peterborough.

Toronto - The Honourable James Taylor, Q.C. today announced the appointment of Michael J. Kinder as District Director in the region of Durham, Victoria, Peterborough and Haliburton.

The Ministry has three offices; Oshawa, Peterborough and Lindsay providing communities with consulting and administrative assistance regarding programs for children, the elderly and income maintenance. The offices also administer Family Benefits, Rehabilitation and social service consultation. Mr. Kinder's office will be in Lindsay, 322 Kent Street, West.

This is Senior Citizens Week with the Provisional County of Haliburton and we wish to extend greetings to all Senior Citizens.

In last weeks Pic of the Past with the men of the International Cooperage, we were sorry that we omitted the name of Wallace Woods whose picture was the second from the left in the middle row.

Gary Lusby, a summer resident of Haliburton, entertained his fellow male teachers from King Senior Public School, King City this past weekend. Everyone enjoyed the fishing, tennis and golfing facilities of the area. Mr. Lusby is married to the former Joanne Roberts and is a brother-in-law of Wayne Roberts.

IMPORTANT CHANGES TO

RENT REVIEW

LEGISLATION

EFFECTIVE MAY 21ST, 1976

Residential premises: Where the rent for residential premises has been increased by up to eight per cent since January 1, 1976 and rent review proceedings have not been initiated, no further increase in rent for the premises can be made for a period of 12 months from the date of the last previous rent increase.

Mobile homes: Sites in a mobile home park or mobile homes not previously rented for residential purposes prior to January 1, 1976 are exempt from the Residential Premises Rent Review Act.

Periodic tenancies: It is confirmed that the Act applies to periodic tenancies (for example, rental units which are leased for weekly or monthly periods), regardless of whether the lease is written, oral or implied.

Public hospitals and religious institutions: Rental premises owned or operated by a religious institution for a charitable use on a non-profit basis are exempt from rent review. Public hospitals are also exempt.

Federal, Provincial and Municipal Government rental premises: Rental premises owned or operated by federal, provincial or municipal governments, or their agencies, on a rent geared-to-income or limited dividend basis are exempt from rent review. However, privately-owned and operated limited dividend premises remain subject to rent review.

Educational institutions: Also exempt are non-profit educational institutions which provide accommodation for students or staff. However, where there exists a recognized student council or staff association, the institution must consult with them before a notice of a rent increase is given, otherwise this exemption does not apply. A statement certifying that there has been consultation must be filed with the local rent review officer by the institution.

If a landlord has failed to refund to a tenant a rent rebate ordered by a rent review officer or the Residential Premises Rent Review Board, the tenant is entitled to deduct, from as many rent payments as are required, the amount required to recover the rebate order.

Please note a new Application for Rent Review (Form 5A) is now in use for applications for rent review for tenancy agreements which take effect or are renewed at any time during the period from August 1, 1976 to July 31, 1977.

For copies of the new form, or further information about these new changes, contact your local Ontario rent review office. Or dial the operator and ask for Zenith 9-6000. You will be connected to the office, free of charge.

Sir Sandford Fleming defy employment trends

A preliminary employment survey showing a 67 per cent success rate among recent Sir Sandford Fleming College graduates was surprisingly positive in light of current economic trends, according to Douglas S. Kirk, dean of student services.

Mr. Kirk said graduates from most divisions were showing a higher employment rate than their counterparts last year, and when final employment data is compiled in October the picture may be as good or better than the 91 per cent success rate of 1975.

Business graduates recorded a 79 per cent employment rate compared to 62 per cent last May; technical students registered 74 per cent, compared to 50 per cent last year, and 68 per cent of general and applied arts graduates are employed, against 60 per cent in 1975.

An exception are natural resources division graduates, who have been directly and indirectly affected by government hiring freezes and other financial restraints, and are reporting a 57 per cent rate, compared to 91 per cent in May of 1975.

Mr. Kirk said similar economic factors are expected to affect diploma nursing graduates from the College's health sciences division when they enter the employment market this summer.

He added that approximately 25 per cent of the graduates employed had obtained jobs not directly related to their specialty, which was higher than in previous years, but in many of these cases there was a general relationship between their training and work.

The percentages from the survey are based on a total of 448 students known to be on the labour market.

Aid to Mozambique

OTTAWA- Canada will contribute up to $400,000 to a special Commonwealth Fund for Technical Assistance to Mozambique, the Secretary of State for External Affairs, the Hon. Allan J. MacEachen announced today.

Creation of the special fund was approved in principle April 21, by the Board of Representatives of the Commonwealth Fund for Technical Cooperation (CFTC). At the meeting several member governments indicated an intention to contribute to the fund.

The Canadian contribution will be in addition to $3 million in Canadian bilateral food aid to Mozambique announced April 30.

Mr. MacEachen said the contributions are made in line with the commitment undertaken at the Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting at Kingston, Jamaica, in 1975, to assist Mozambique to enforce the United Nations sanctions against Rhodesia as well as the UN Security Council Resolution 386 dated March 17, 1976. The Minister noted that the Government of Mozambique had requested assistance from the international community at the United Nations as a result of its decision to close its border with Rhodesia and to enforce the U.N. sanctions against Rhodesia on March 3, 1976.

The Minister noted that the special fund will be limited to technical assistance, will be administered by the CFTC and financed by voluntary contributions over and above Commonwealth members' normal contributions to the CFTC. Since the program is conceived as an emergency one, it will last two to three years.

The CFTC, created in 1971, enables the provision of advisers, an export market development program and a training program for people of member developing countries. Canada is a major contributor to the CFTC.

Mr. MacEachen said it was clear that the Commonwealth program will be closely coordinated with U.N. efforts. He noted that Shridath Ramphal, Secretary General of the Commonwealth, maintained close contact with UN Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim on the question.

Dr. Gordon Goundrey, a Canadian economist (Memorial University Nfld.) with the CFTC, was nominated a member of a UN technical mission to assess the needs of Mozambique and he has since been asked to help coordinate the UN program in Mozambique for three months.

"This practical cooperation between the Commonwealth and the UN will insure that the Commonwealth program serves to complement the much larger UN effort," Mr. MacEachen said.

"In its brief history, the CFTC has proved that it can offer valuable services to developing Commonwealth countries, especially by drawing on resources available in other developing Commonwealth countries. It should be able to mount an effective program, particularly in association with the UN."

Stamp poster

OTTAWA - The entire collection of Olympic Stamps issued by Canada Post has been gathered together and reproduced on an attractive four-colour poster. The artwork for this poster is based on stamps designed for Canada Post by Peter Swan.

The poster, available at the end of May at all Canada Post philatelic outlets and most post offices, captures the spirit of the "brotherhood of nations" represented by the gathering of the world's athletes in Montreal for the 1976 Olympic Games.

Suitable for framing, the 24" by 36" poster highlights the three Olympic ceremonies featured in Canada's newest issue of Olympic commemorative stamps - the flame ceremony, the opening ceremony and the victory ceremony.

Price of the poster is $2.

CONSERVE

Don't waste a drop!

After the furnace, the water heater is the biggest user of energy in your home. Waste hot water, and you're wasting valuable energy.

That's a good reason for getting full value from your water heater in every way you can. By fixing leaky faucets. By insulating long runs of hot water pipe. By waiting until you have a full load before you switch on the clothes or dishwasher. By using cold or cool water when it will do the job. By taking shorter showers or shallower baths. By making sure that all the hot water that eventually goes down the drain works hard for you before it goes.

The Cascade electric water heater gives you a dependable supply of hot water and it makes good use of all the energy it consumes. But it's up to you to use hot water wisely. Don't waste a drop.

From the Chamber

by Bob Stinson

Well it's nice to be back in the Highlands again after a week living on Campus at Western University. The course was sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce specifically for full time managers involved in association work. It was attended by people from all across Canada from Vancouver to P.E.I. and even included tow Inuit girls from the North West Territories. There was almost as much gained in new ideas from conversational exchange with all the varied participants as there was from the lectures. Many new programmes and ideas will be forth-coming from the Chamber in the next year as the result of what was learned here.

Ruby's Riding Stable on #121 Highway near the Allsaw bridge have just joined The Chamber and are pleased to advise us that Norm Hobbs is working with them and will continue his club and riding school activities from that location. Norm sincerely hopes this will not inconvenience any of his present club members severely, and tells us that he would welcome additional members at this time.

The Beaconbrook Motor Hotel has re-opened under new management. Brothers Jim and Larry Tice has combined with their parents Russell and Pearl Tice to take over this fine establishment and found themselves faced with a capacity crowd at their opening last weekend. They of course plan many changes, including extended dining room hours which is good news for those looking for late evening meals. Russell and Pearl have come here from Bracebridge (it's always nice to steal someone from Muskoka) and Jim and Larry are from Burlington. Jim was a former policeman there, so anticipates no problems in keeping things orderly. A hearty welcome to them all and we hope you all make them feel at home here.

Things will be buzzing in Haliburton village this weekend in more ways than one. The power boats, will be buzzing around Head Lake for the North American Championship races scheduled for Saturday. This will be an annual event if it is successful and could be a big boost to our community. We do hope it is well supported. There is a dance planned at the Legion Saturday night for the drivers and their fans. The new Haliburton Kinsman Club have wasted no time getting involved and will be operating a baseball tournament at the same time along with a beer garden at the Haliburton fairground.

We have just submitted our list of Fall events to the Ministry for their booklets and it is pretty sparse. If any organization is planning a fall event that we may not be aware of, please contact us at once and we will attempt to get it included in this publication. The Chamber is anxious to help publicize any events within our County, but we can't help if we are not kept informed.

Amendments to commercial zoning orders affect 60 municipalities

General amendments to commercial zoning orders affecting 60 municipalities have been made by Housing Minister John R. Rhodes and filed with the Registrar of Regulations.

The original commercial zoning orders were designed to prohibit haphazard development of shopping centres throughout the province. It has been found, however, that development of small-scale commercial uses to serve local needs would be beneficial without undergoing the zoning order amendment process.

The general amendments will alter the original requirements of the orders enabling construction or use of commercial building with a floor area of less than 5,000 square feet in some municipalities and up to 15,000 square feet in others. Additional changes in siting requirements have also been included.

Mr. Rhodes pointed out that the commercial orders are interim measures, designed to remain in effect only until the affected municipalities enact their own zoning by-laws. As soon as the Ontario Municipal Board approves these zoning by-laws, the order will be rescinded.

"I urge the municipalities to prepare and adopt suitable land use controls immediately," Mr. Rhodes said.

A program of technical and financial assistance to aid municipalities in developing acceptable zoning by-laws is available from the Community Planning Advisory Branch, the Ministry of Housing.

The affected townships are:

Adjala, Admaston, Albion, Alice & Fraser, Baldwin, Bathurst, Bayham, Beckwith, Bentinck, Bosanquet, Brant, Brantford, Camden, Carrick, Colchester South, Cumberland, Drummond, East Wawanosh, Elma, Enniskillen, Essa, Flamborough, Front of Leeds and Lansdowne, Glackmayer, Glenelg, Gosfield North, Hay, Horton, Huron, Kincairdine, Malahide, McNab, Mersea, Morris, Murray, Norfolk, North Elmsley, North Marysburg, Ops, Pembroke, Plympton, Ramsay, Rideau, Rolph, Buchanan, Wylie & McKay, Sarawak, Sidney, Sophiasburg, South Elmsley, South-west Oxford, Stafford, Stephen, Tecumseth, Thurlow, Turnberry, Osborne, Wallace, Warwick, West Carleton, West Hawkesbury, West Lincoln.

National Trust to buy H. Keith

J.L.A. Colhoun, President of National Trust Company, announced today that agreement has now been reached on the purchase of the real estate operations of H. Keith Limited by National Trust. It is expected that the transaction will be concluded within the very near future.

Since its formation in 1952 by Harvey Keith, the Keith Realty Firm has shown an impressive record of growth, largely as a result of its aggressive stance in the marketplace. The firm currently conducts its real estate brokerage business through 45 offices in Ontario and employs some 700 personnel. "The major position this firm now holds in the real estate field, combined with the financial services and resources of National Trust, will place our Company in a strong competitive position", Mr. Colhoun stated.

W.J. Kucherepa, who is responsible for National's nationwide real estate operations, said that "the merging of Keith's and National Trust's real estate operations will increase the range of real estate services offered to the public and expand our market coverage. With National's broad base of financial services, we will now be better able to serve the real estate needs of our individuals and corporate clients across Canada."

Minden O.P.P. report

The Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report the following

Senior housing for Havelock

PETERBOROUGH - June 7, 1976 - A senior citizens' apartment building to be constructed in Havelock will be financed largely by federal funds, Urban Affairs Minister Barney Danson announced today.

A $339,030 loan from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to the Ontario Housing Corporation will cover 90 per cent of the capital cost of the project.

The remaining 10 per cent of the capital funding will come from the provincial housing agency.

Kelly-Lyn Construction Ltd. of London is the builder of the development which will have 18 one-bedroom suites, a fully equipped common room, a patio or balcony for each suite and outdoor parking for nine cars.

So rents can be geared to tenants' incomes, CMHC and OHC will subsidize rents as equal partners.

The loan, provided under the public housing section of the National Housing Act, is for a term of 50 years at an interest rate of 10 1/2 per cent.

activity for the period of June 7 to 13, 1976: during this period the staff investigated 68 general occurrences and 17 motor vehicle collisions.

As a result of an investigation by Ontario Provincial Police Constables Bill Clendenning and Jim Martin of the Minden Detachment two persons have been apprehended and charged with the theft of a jeep owned by Robert Luke of Minden. Charged are 17 year old Randy Edward King of Agincourt and 19 year old Richard Kirk Salai of MacTier. The recovery of this vehicle, valued at $800, was made possible by information from a concerned citizen who became a little suspicious.

Gems of Truth

A New Day Dawns

With the descent of the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost a new era of God's dealing with the children of men began. All the feasts of Jehovah God given to Israel have their fulfilment in due time and the "Feast of Pentecost" is no exception.

This feast followed that of the feast of first-fruits wherein a wave-sheaf had been offered to the Lord in remembrance of a harvest enjoyed. This wave-sheaf refers to none other than the resurrection event of the Lord Jesus. It was to be waved on the day after the Sabbath or in other words the first day of the week, now known as the Lord's Day in Christian Circles, Leviticus 23:9-14 and 1 Corinthians 15:20. It was on this day that the crucified Jesus rose from among the dead, Matthew 28:1; Mark 16:1; Luke 24:1; John 30:1; 19,26.

The Feast of Pentecost

followed on the fiftieth day after the wave-sheaf offering, Leviticus 23:15. That day was to be reckoned by seven Sabbaths and held on the morrow after the seventh Sabbath, thus bringing it again to the first day of the week or our known Lord's Day. It was on this day and in fulfilment of its type that the Holy Spirit came upon the waiting disciples on the fiftieth day after the resurrection, the Day of Pentecost, Acts 2:1-4.

These facts furnish us with the truth that the Christians are right who observe the first day of the week as a day of worship instead of the seventh. The very fact that Moses in his day was instructed to hold the two feast of wave-sheaf and wave-loaves on the morrow after the Sabbath plainly teaches that Jehovah the Lord had been planning for and arranging the change from the seventh day to the first.

One must never forget that the Lord Jesus Christ is "all" in the plans and purposes of God for mankind and the world, and that He is the reality of the Old Testament types and shadows. A new day and a new creation has come into existence as the Lord Jesus came and brought to a close the "Old" and brought in the "New".

The main feature of the Day of Pentecost in Leviticus 23 was the waving of the two loaves before Jehovah, verse 20. These loaves were made of flour, from the same crop as the wave-sheaf of first-fruits. They were made from grain reaped on the same field, only in all things the wave-sheaf was the more prominent offering. In the sheaf was found no leaven, whereas the wave-loaves were to be baked with leaven.

These two feasts vividly represent the Lord Jesus and His people. Christ is the first-fruits, 1 Corinthians 15:20 and believers are a "kind of first-fruit begotten after His own will" James 1:18. All who truly believe on Christ are "one" with Him and also "in" Him. These also share His standing before Jehovah God, fully able to have His life and nature reproduced in them. Scripture states that we are complete in Him, Ephesians 1:6; 1 Corinthians 1:30; Colossians 2:9-10. All truly born-again believers share with Christ eternal life and are sealed in Him with the Holy Spirit of promise, Romans 5:10, 6:11; Ephesians 1:13. What a difference our conduct and service would make if this truth would grip us as it ought! The Saviour is well able to have His children reproduce all the characteristics of holy living if He is allowed to do so.

The two loaves reveal the fact that the Church was to be called out from among both Jew and Gentile. Before Pentecost these people were divided by a "middle wall of partition", Ephesians 2:14. Gentiles were strangers to promises of God, Ephesians 2:11-12 but now in Christ they were made "one" body by the dying, risen and glorified Jesus. There is but "one true Church" and all who belong to the "church" are one in Christ Jesus, one Body and one Bread, Romans 12:4-5; 1 Corinthians 10:17.

Leaven, in those wave-loaves of Leviticus 23:17 speaks of the "old nature" which every child of God has to live with even though he has been saved, Romans 6:11-13; 7:18; 1 John 1:8. What is true of an individual believer is also true of the Church, there still remains in us the possibility to sin. This evil came to light in the early days of Christianity, as even in the days of the purest Church life as practised by Spirit-filled believers, evil was still present among them, Acts 5:19-21; 6:1; Galatians 5:19-21.

Pentecost brought to all believers a perfect standing before God and the Helper needed by every one to live the overcoming life and keep our state before God on par with our standing. This is the battle of the Christian life!

In Memoriam

BLAIR - In loving memory of a dear husband, father, grandfather, and great-grandfather, Harry, who passed away June 18th, 1969.

The depths of sorrow we cannot tell, of the loss of one we loved so well; And while he sleeps in peaceful sleep his memory we shall always keep.

Sadly missed by the family

COWEN - Walter - In memory of a loving husband and father who passed away on June 15th, 1975.

Always remembered by wife Anna, Liesa and Paul Cowen.

FEARREY - In loving memory of a dear wife, Pearl, who passed away June 19th, 1975.

When evening shades are falling, And I sit in quiet along, To my heart there comes a longing, If she only could come home. Friends may think I have forgotten. When at times they see me smile, But they little know the heartaches My smile hides all the while.

Lovingly remembered by Harvey.

FEARREY - In loving memory of a dear mother, Pearl, who passed away June 19th, 1975.

If I had all the world to give, I'd give it, yes, and more, To hear her voice, see her smile, And greet her at the door. But all I can do, dear mother, Is go and tend your grave, And leave behind tokens of love To the best mother God ever made. I like to think when life is done, Wherever heaven may be, She'll be standing at the door Up there to welcome me.

Lovingly remembered by daughter Lorna and son-in-law Jim.

In Memoriam

FEARREY - In loving memory of our dear grandmother and great grandmother, Pearl, who passed away June 19th, 1975.

We were not there to see you die, To hold your hand or kiss you goodby; But we'll remember our whole lives through The last few words we had with you.

Lovingly remembered by Douglas, Laurie, David, Margaret and her great granddaughter Jennifer.

FEARREY - In loving memory of our dear sister, Pearl, who passed away June 19th, 1975.

We loved her, yes we loved her, But Jesus loved her more And he had gently called her To yonder shining shore. The Golden Gates were opened A welcome voice said come And with farewells unspoken She calmly entered home.

Lovingly remembered by sisters, Annie, Dorothy, Agnes, Ruth and Doreen.

FEARREY - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother Pearl Fearrey who passed away June 19th, 1975.

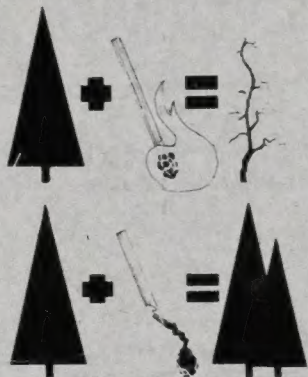

In tears I saw you sinking, We watched you fade away My heart was almost broken, You fought so hard to stay But when I saw you sleeping, So peacefully free from pain, We could not wish you back To suffer that again.

Sadly missed and always remembered by son Bruce, daughter-in-law Pat and grandchildren Cheryl and Murray, Mike and Tim.

MILLER - In loving memory of our dear parents who went to their Eternal Home. Stewart Wm. Miller - June 20th, 1970, Gertrude Miller - September 10th, 1968.

"Dad and Mom are with Jesus We miss them year after year But they left us precious memories That to us are very dear."

Remembered always by Edna, Grant and Wayne.

News from Extendicare

by Charles Plewman

Everything is Looking Up at Extendicare

The grounds surrounding Extendicare is now taking on a new look. The lawn has mostly been laid and most of the approaches to the building have been asphalted.

Two new Barbecues will arrive soon and may be used by Visitors desiring to have a private cook-out with the friends they are visiting.

The "Happy Gang" Residents are meeting soon with a Representative from the Federal Health & Welfare Department to talk over a project that would transform the area into an attractive park, with such amenities as a Shuffleboard Court, Vegetable Garden Plots, and a shaded screened in area where one could read or play cards, even if the mosquitoes were bad or it should be raining. If approved, these amenities, in addition to what Extendicare will be doing in providing outdoor furniture, chairs and flower gardens, would make the park one of the most attractive spots in town. It would also mean that far more Senior Citizens from Haliburton could be served.

Dr. O.W. Anderson, one of our highly respected Residents, was honoured on Sunday, June 6th at Bancroft where over 50 years he had diligently served that Community and the surrounding area. Extendicare congratulates him on a job well done and wishes him the best in the years that lie ahead.

On Tuesday the 8th, the Residents were taken on a "Mystery Bus Trip". It turned out to be a trip to the Sky Line Park and the surrounding country.

On Wednesday the 9th, we were favoured by additional classes from Victoria Street School, with a program of songs. The youngsters were well trained and sang with great gusto. Mrs. Ruth Gorrie was in charge and assisted at the piano.

On Thursday the 10th, the Over Sixty Club of Haliburton made their first contact with our Residents. We were impressed with their hearty singing and the program they put on. Altogether everybody had a rollicking good time. We are looking forward to more activities with this congenial group. Mr. Frank Hargreaves led the singing and Mrs. Burry sang a solo.

On Thursday, the writer gave a short talk to the Rotary Club about "Growing Old" and the services that Homes for the Aged and Nursing Homes were rendering people needing help. Following the talk, the members visited Extendicare and were taken on a tour by Miss Elston.

Friday morning's Devotional Service was taken by the Rev. John Smith of Lakeview Baptist Church. Most of the Residents were on hand to listen to his helpful address. Like the former ministers, he was in good voice and led the group in singing. Mrs. Smith assisted at the piano.

On Saturday night we had some unexpected excitement when someone set off the fire alarm. After a mad rush to discover fire or smoke, things returned to normal.

The staff is trying its hand at Baseball on Tuesday the 15th at the Senior Elementary School Diamond in Haliburton.

Latest arrivals were Mr. Gerald Covert - Highland Grove and Mrs. Edna Dunning, Thornhill.
